Description

The Department of Economics at Università Ca’ Foscari Venezia invites applications for a fellowship in:

Title:
- Empirical assessment of age-earnings profiles over the life cycle of European Workers. Implementation of “job coding” and of the “job episodes panel” of the SHARE sample and of micro panel data
- SSD: SECS-P/01
- scientific coordinator and tutor: Prof. Agar Brugiavini
- duration: 20 months

abstract:

The aim of the project is to construct the working life of individuals in Europe taking into account the role of skills and education as well as positive or negative health shocks. The researcher will use different data sets in the project: first, the data from different waves of SHARE (Survey on health, aging and retirement in Europe) and from SHARELIFE. Then the researcher will use information from the jobcoder to precisely describe the job characteristics. The SHARE and SHARELIFE data will allow also to assess the role of health shocks, besides job changes. The final goal is to document the evolution of human capital in the different European Countries and to carry out comparisons across generations.

The resolution of the Council of the Department of Economics of 2018-11-06, contains declaration of financial backing for the entire duration of the fellowship, which will be funded with funds available from Prof. Agar Brugiavini –

The research may be carried out in English. The fellowship is intended to provide the successful candidate with the opportunity to pursue his/her own research while benefiting from the range of expertise at Università Ca’ Foscari Venezia.
