Description
The Department of Economics at Università Ca’ Foscari Venezia invites applications for a fellowship in:

Title:
- Nature, structure and operational criticality of the “Assegno di ricollocazione”: between personalized assistance services and reciprocal obligations of the parties. Activation strategies and interrelationship between active and passive labour market policies -

- SSD: JUS/07
- scientific coordinator and tutor: Prof. Adalberto Perulli
- duration: 12 months

abstract:
The Jobs Act has innovated and reorganized the subject of employment services, impacting the organization of ALMP and simultaneously extending the opportunities for participation of private service providers, in a position of collaboration but even of competition with employment centers. The most innovative active policy measure is represented by the “Assegno di ricollocazione” that recognizes to the unemployed subjects for over four months a dowry - an individual allowance - to be spent at the employment centers or at the accredited private operators to take advantage of a service intensive assistance for relocation, thus creating a complex triangular relationship between the parties.

TARGETS: Considering the centrality of the ALMP instrument and the large number of possible beneficiaries (including the recipients of welfare measures), the analysis of the nature and structure of the “Assegno di ricollocazione” is essential, not so much for the theoretical classification, as for the practical effects that reverberate on that triangular relationship involving employment center, unemployed and accredited private operator.

The research, therefore, aims to analytically examine the most critical legal aspects of the measure, in particular
- the concrete methods of assistance that must be agreed and shared between the parties;
- the influence of the principle of conditionality in the relationship between the unemployed and the private operator;
- the modulation of the adequacy of the job offer to be submitted to the unemployed person;
- the amount and methods of payment of services provided by the private operator.

EXPECTED OUTCOM: Identification of legal solutions to define the critical aspects of the legal tool and guarantee to the parties involved, with specific regard to private service providers, certainty in the management and operational implementation of the same.

The resolution of the Departmental Council of 2018-12-19 contains declaration of financial backing for the entire duration of the fellowship, which will be funded by: Umana S.p.A., scientific responsible and tutor Prof. Adalberto Perulli.
