Description
The Department of Humanities at Ca’ Foscari University of Venice (Dipartimento di Studi Umanistici dell’Università Ca’ Foscari Venezia) invites applications for a fellowship in: “Migration literature, writing and inclusion: cultural mediation through literature in a project for secondary school in Veneto Region”, Academic discipline: L-FIL-LET/11 - Contemporary Italian literature; L-FIL-LET/14 - Literary criticism and comparative literature, Tutor prof. Alberto Zava and prof. Ricciarda Ricorda, within the érpject FAMI IMPACT VENETO PRPG.2415 - CUP H79F18000300007.

The fellowship is intended to provide the successful candidate with the opportunity to pursue his/her own research while benefiting from the range of expertise at Università Ca’ Foscari Venezia.

Abstract
The project, continuation of the work started in 2019, aims to facilitate the integration of immigrant students and provide them with support for university orientation. The field of research will be the literature of migration in Italian; literary texts are powerful factors of mediation, with their crossings, loans, interweaving: thereby, they are a space of investigation of particular interest in order to face problems related to inclusion and understanding of otherness, a necessary step to operate in the field of education. The post-doctoral research fellow will collaborate choosing and preparing the texts to be submitted in an educational perspective to the final recipients of the project. It will participate with the teachers involved in the schools in the activities planned by IMPACT-VENETO and will monitor, synthesize and disseminate the results of the activities carried out: in this perspective, the organization of a contest on the topics addressed for students will also be included.

Meetings with migrant writers, whose texts will be analyzed in depth and following precise methodological indications, and workshops on migration and integration for students will complete and enrich the project.
